

2022 SNAPLine

FLASH FICTION CONTEST

SNAPLine invites you to submit a story to our 2022 Flash Fiction Contest, with the winner and runner-up to be published this December in our 2022.3 "Fake Edition" issue. The maximum word count is 500, and your entry must take the silkscreen print Can't we just doomsday later? by Andrew Benson (pictured) as a starting point.

DEADLINE: October 31, 2022

Submit your finished pieces to communications@snapartists.com with the subject "SNAPLine Flash Fiction Contest"

- Word Count: 500
- Attach your entry as a pdf or word document.
- Include the title of your entry in the document.
- Do not include your name in the document
- If you submit your entry early, you are welcome to send a revised copy before the deadline ends or if the deadline is extended.

PRIZES:

1st place:

$150 Honorarium
Publication in 2022.3 issue
1 year SNAPLine Subscription
(postage paid within Canada only)

2nd place:

$75 Honorarium
Publication in 2022.3 issue
1 year SNAPLine Subscription
(postage paid within Canada only)

Shortlist: Publication online at snapartists.com/snapline/

Every contestant (who gives us their address): a free copy of SNAPLine 2021.2 in the mail!

Click here to view the online call

SNAP